COPY THAT. YOU ARE CLEARED FOR DOCK, VERTEX.
AND A WELCOME SIGHT, COLONEL JAMESON.
LOOKED UP HERE LIKE YOU MIGHT NOT MAKE IT.
THEN YOU CAN IMAGINE HOW IT LOOKED FROM THE FLIGHT DECK.
IF IT WEREN'T FOR SPIDER-MAN, THE SCORPION WOULD HAVE TORN VERTEX TO PIECES.
THAT NUTCASE SMYTHE HAS SENT AN ARMY OF INSECT-KILLERS AGAINST MY DAD'S FRIENDS AND FAMILY.
I NEED YOU TO FUEL UP THIS BIRD STAT SO I CAN GET BACK TO EARTH AND HELP HIM--

I KNOW ABOUT YOU AND HIM.
WAIT, MAX--IS THIS LIKE THAT "KEVIN BACON GAME?"
"PETER PARKER TOOK PICTURES FOR THE DAILY BUGLE. SPIDER-MAN WAS IN PICTURES FOR THE DAILY BUGLE"--SEE, I'M LINKED IN TWO...
NO NEED TO DISSEMBLE, MY BOY. I HAVE NO DESIRE TO SHARE YOUR SECRET WITH ANYONE.

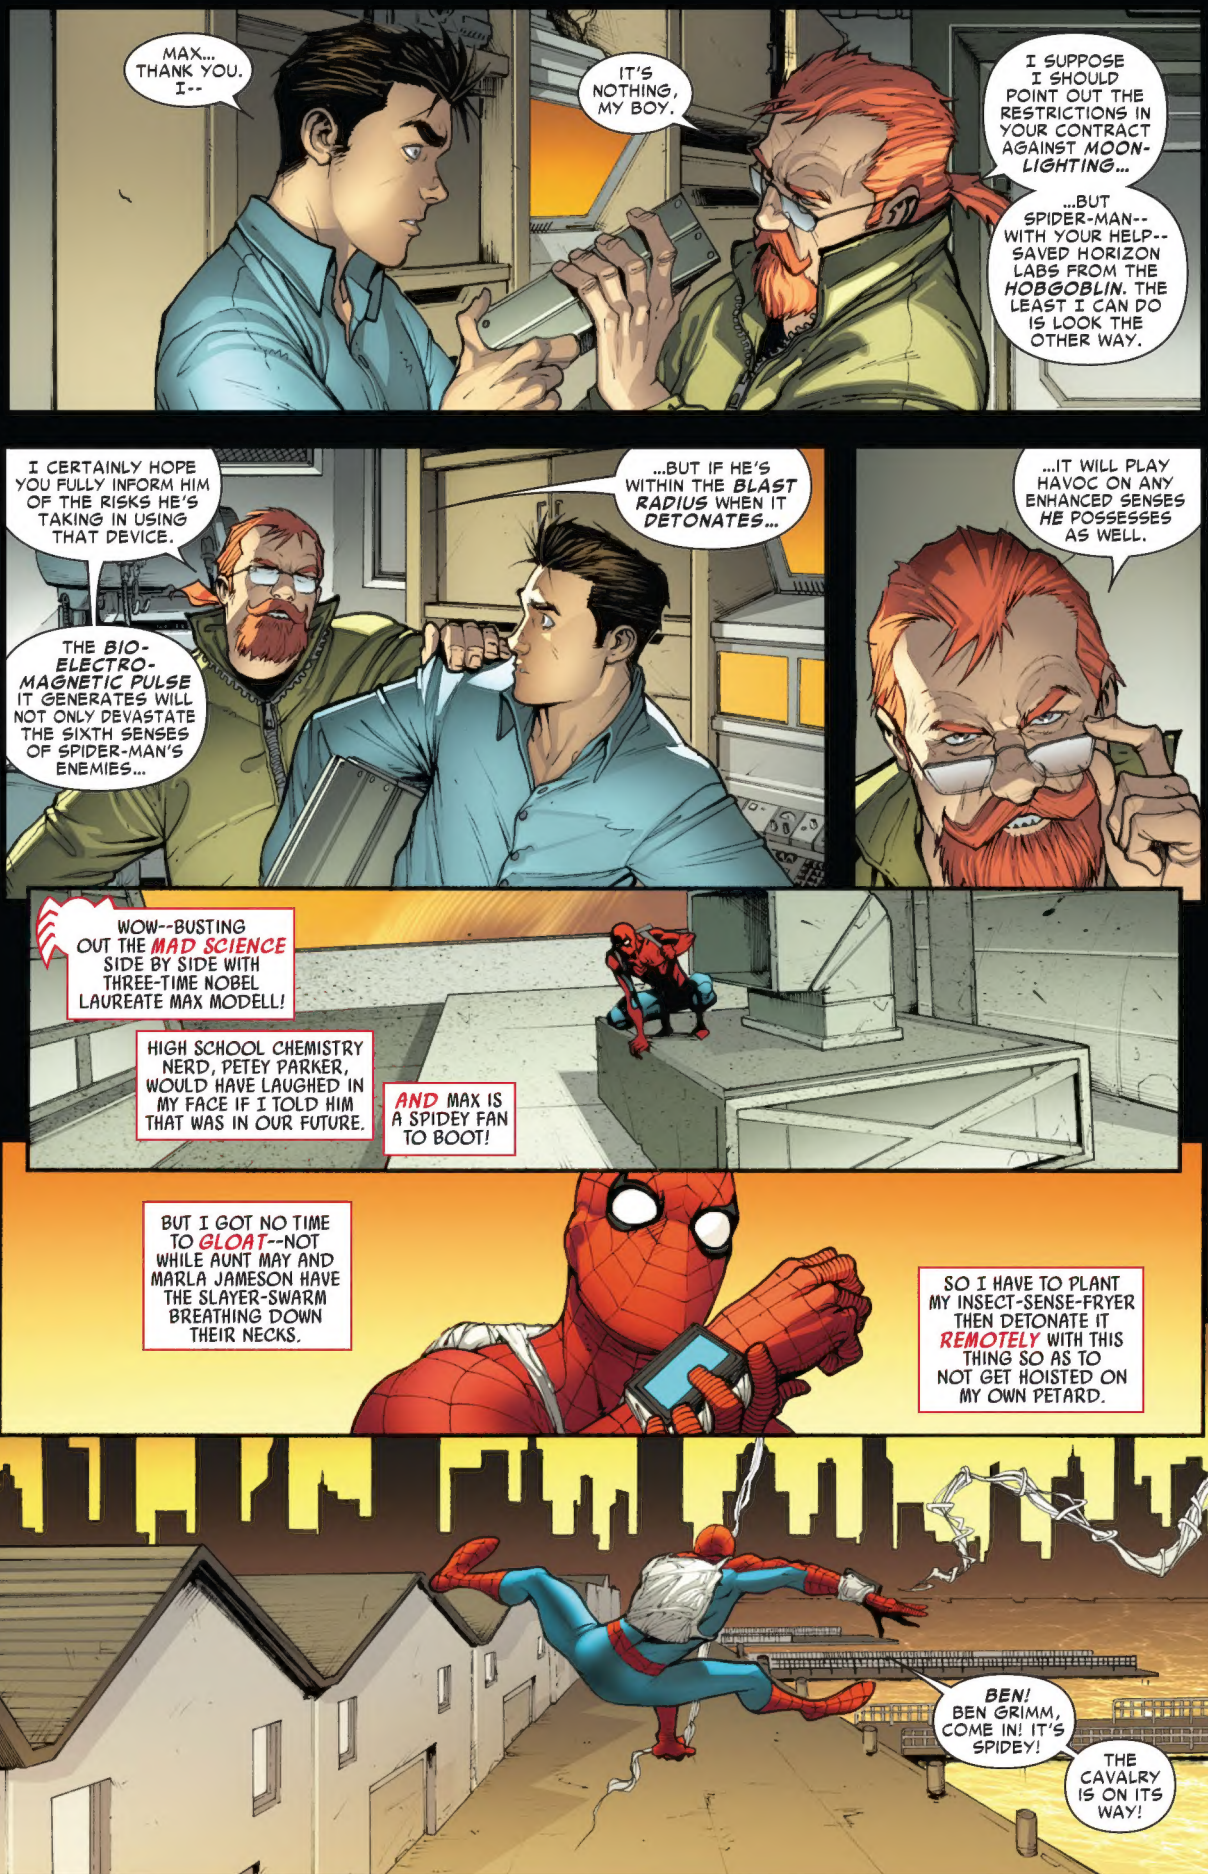
SPIDER-MAN HIRES YOU TO BUILD HIS WEAPONRY AND TECH!
AFTER ALL, IT STRAINS CREDULITY TO THINK ONE MAN COULD POSSESS BOTH AMAZING SPIDER-POWERS...
...AND THE SCIENTIFIC ACUMEN TO INVENT DEVICES LIKE HIS WEB-SHOOTERS!
YOU...YOU GOT ME, MAX.
FRANKLY...
...I'M RELIEVED I FINALLY HAVE SOMEBODY TO CONFIDE IN.
AND I'D BE HAPPY TO REGALE YOU WITH WAR STORIES FROM THE SUPER-TRENCHES...
...BUT I'M KINDA UNDER THE GUN NOW. SPIDEY'S ASKED ME TO WHIP UP SOMETHING TO INTERFERE WITH THE ANIMAL-INSTICT SENSES OF SMYTHE'S SLAYER-SWARM--
I SEE. TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE, THEN.
SO YOU MIGHT WANT TO REMOVE THIS REDUNDANT CIRCUIT TO MAKE THE CONNECTION BETWEEN YOUR NEUROWAVE GENERATOR AND TRANSMITTER MORE EFFICIENT.



MAX... THANK YOU. I--
IT'S NOTHING, MY BOY.
I SUPPOSE I SHOULD POINT OUT THE RESTRICTIONS IN YOUR CONTRACT AGAINST MOON-LIGHTING...
...BUT SPIDER-MAN--WITH YOUR HELP--SAVED HORIZON LABS FROM THE HOBGOBLIN. THE LEAST I CAN DO IS LOOK THE OTHER WAY.
I CERTAINLY HOPE YOU FULLY INFORM HIM OF THE RISKS HE'S TAKING IN USING THAT DEVICE.
THE BIO-ELECTRO-MAGNETIC PULSE IT GENERATES WILL NOT ONLY DEVASTATE THE SIXTH SENSES OF SPIDER-MAN'S ENEMIES...
...BUT IF HE'S WITHIN THE BLAST RADIUS WHEN IT DETONATES...

Hey Spidey-fans! New Editor In Chief Axel Alonso has made a lot of changes in his first few days in the chair. And as a result, I've spent a lot more time cleaning his various cars this week. So I'm just going to get right down to your letters.

Before I do, though, let me remind you that next week's issue is numbered 654.1. We're doing several of these POINT ONE issues throughout the line and they're a great place to jump on if you haven't been following a book regularly.

So, next week in Spidey you get a full-length story featuring the all-new Venom that debuts right here in this issue's backup story. It's by Dan and Humberto and it is flat-out gorgeous (in spite of the poor, barely functional editing).

Also from my neck of the woods is the recent Invincible Iron Man #500.1 by Matt Fraction and Salvador Larroca. It's an absolutely heartbreaking look at the biggest, ongoing struggle in Tony Stark's life. And it'll help get you ready for Spidey's guest appearance in Iron Man starting next month.

Both issues also feature a sneak peek at the coming year for both characters – a year which promises to make you mad at us already – even though it's only February! You may think you know where the Marvel U. is headed, but you're not even close.

Anyway, I have to go wax Axel's new diamond and dodo bird shoes, so let's have you take over. LETTER PAGE GO NOW!!!

Dear Spidey creators,

You have done it. You have fixed Amazing Spider-Man with BIG TIME. You have made Spidey as fun and as cool as he is in the Avengers titles.

You have beefed up the villains and haven't left Spidey behind the times (though I wish you would bring back the organic webs). You have made Amazing a great looking book with a wonderful start on his new stories. Keep up the good work. I hope your current team of writer and artist stay on Amazing Spider-Man for years.

Kevin Skaggs

Dear Spider-Makers,

I just want to say how excited I am for this Big Time story! I am a longtime Spider-Fan who hasn't been reading comics for some time. This storyline is exactly what I needed to get me back into the goings-on of my favorite super hero!

Not only is his Spider life interesting what with his new armor and changes in powers, but his life as Peter Parker is reaching a turning point with his new job and girlfriend! There is a real progression here and that is what I loved about all the classic Spider-Man stories.

So thank you for making a comic that truly lives up to its Amazing title! (oh and nice nod to the Spider-Man Broadway show in issue 650! I'm seeing the show in January.)

What a great time to be a Spider-Fan!

"Magic" Mike Robichaud
Via e-mail

Thanks, Mike. It's always great to have a lapsed reader back. Sounds like this month's POINT ONE issues will be perfect for you to sort of test the waters on some new books and catch up with old friends..

Hope you liked the Spidey Broadway show, too. It sounds like it's been a rough ride getting it ready, but I'm excited to see it myself once it officially opens in February. I'm confident it'll be memorable and help wash away the memories of the doomed Captain America musical from the '80s.

And if it's a success, can the Storm musical Ororoklahoma! be far behind?!

ITEM!

The Spidey office congratulates the aptly named Fred Love of Washington D.C. for his recent marriage to this woman who allowed him to decorate the rehearsal dinner with pictures of an old Spidey wedding issue. Take a look.

On behalf of all of us here at Marvel… our condolences to the bride.

Dear Steve and Ellie,

I was barely hanging in there with Amazing Spider-Man since the appalling "One More Day," and then you decided to let Dan Slott kill off the Roderick Kingsley/Hobgoblin.

Wow! That was some awesome storytelling. You could have taken an established villain and made him great again. New readers wouldn't know the difference and old readers would be thrilled to see him back. But no, of course not.

Instead, it has to have a new and "hip" spin. Well that was stunning, taking a nobody character who had a comic for a handful of issues that no one cared about (except the McDaniel art) and turned him into someone I still don't, and won't, care about.

All at the expense of one of my all-time favorite villains.

Well that's it. After 28 years of reading Spidey stories...I'm out.

Ben Mulder
Via e-mail

Hey Spider-Team,

Hobgoblin...sweet. Wings? Not sure yet. One of my first issues of Spidey was Amazing #245, dealing with identity of the Hobgoblin, and this issue filled a longtime fan with both nostalgia and new excitement! Hobgoblin has always been a favorite – I even remember WEB OF SPIDER-MAN #38 (where Peter was drunk, by the way – the infamous Amazing #601 incident was not his first debacle, people, so get over it).

The plot and pace are perfect so far and I laughed aloud at the costume-changing hijinks with Carlie, May, and now the Horizon staff.

Speaking of the latter, the Horizon gig is a nice new spin on Peter's scholarly pursuits. I fondly remember Pete's juggling of (and eventually giving up) college, and that interaction with young intellectuals was an ingredient I didn't realize was missing that you've refreshed with new direction. You even came up with a plausible reason for a new suit, so I'll relax about that and enjoy.

One disagreement, however, with the letter from Mr. Wilson in #650, who said: "(Peter's) a genius. We know that... so why did (Peter) spend the last two years acting like a slacker/loser?" Although "Big Time" already has me enjoying the book even more, I'd like to defend the last two years of great work on the book.

My wife, like Peter, is brilliant in ways that astound me. However, she can't multi-task to save her life; she's genius when focused on a single thing without distraction. There aren't simply "smart" people and "dumb" people out there, life is more complicated than that, and Peter is a great (tragic?) example.

Also, there's a BIG difference between knowledge and wisdom, and while Peter is brilliant with test tubes, his discernment (with ladies, relationships, job politics, etc.) can be remedial. That, by the way, is often a trait that accompanies genius.

My primary gifts are writing and speaking, but the administrative aspects of my current gig don't allow me to stretch those muscles much. We're all hoping opportunity comes knocking like it has for Peter has with the "Big Time", so bring it on! My only quibble: is Felicia REALLY going to lay off the flirtation just because Spider has a girlfriend? Please...

James Harleman
Seattle, WA

That's a perfect place to leave it, James. Thanks for your great and well-thought out letter. Most of your thoughts match this editor's take on Pete…but you phrased them much better than I ever could.

Outta room, folks. We'll be back in 7 days for 654.1 picking up right where we left off!

And in ASM #655…the Spidey artist you demanded is back as Marcos Martin makes his BIG TIME debut. After the death of Marla Jameson (coupled with the death of one of his close friends in the Fantastic Four), Pete is brought to one of the lowest points ever.

Viva Carlini!
